At Michael Wilson and Son Ltd, we understand that no two schools are the same. That's why our modular garden rooms and classrooms are designed with flexibility in mind.

Whether you're looking for a quiet breakout space, a fully equipped teaching area, or a specialist room for art, SEN, or small group work, we'll work with you to shape a solution that suits your needs.

Design:

Each building starts with an initial site meeting to assess the location, utility supply if required, and to create a scope of works.

From there the project goes through a collaborative design process that takes into account your available space, access, requirements for use, and budget.

We even have an online design portal if you prefer - enabling you to take the lead in all the design elements. Either way, the result is a beautifully functional classroom that blends practicality with comfort, tailored to your school community.

Options:

We offer a wide range of customisable options to help you get the most from your new space.

Choose from different styles of windows and doors to maximise light and accessibility, add canopies or roof overhangs for weather protection, and create safe, welcoming access points with timber decking.

Inside, you can tailor the flooring, skirting, and cladding to match your school's aesthetic and practical needs.

We also offer optional connections for electrics, plumbing and waste—ideal if you need a sink area, staff toilet or additional power.

Installation:

We know that minimising disruption during the school day is a top priority. Our rooms are installed with care, speed and precision– with a typical project being completed in less than two weeks. Offsite fabrication means less disruption, and less waste.

All groundwork and service connections are handled by our experienced team, with every detail coordinated to ensure a smooth and safe process.

From site preparation to final handover, our approach is hands-on, communicative and respectful of the school environment.

Finishing Touches :

Our modular buildings don't just work hard—they look great too. With a contemporary timber or composite cladding exterior and high-performance materials, each room is designed to sit sensitively within its surroundings while offering long-term durability.

Why Choose Us?

We offer a complete turnkey solution –handling everything from design to delivery of your brand new space.

With years of experience working on school sites, we ensure minimal disruption to day-to-day life. Much of the build is completed off-site, making installation quick, quiet and safe.

Our bespoke design process means each space is created around your specific requirements—whether you need a classroom, breakout space or multipurpose room.

Choose us for a reliable, flexible, and experienced team committed to quality and built-for-purpose spaces that support both staff and students.
